- Event: Sands Films Studios and Brunel Museum, Rotherhithe, London.
- Date: Thursday 30th November 2017.
- Meet: Arrive at Sands Films Studios at 10.15am for 10.30am start. If only joining the afternoon event meet at the Brunel Museum at 2.00pm.
- Location: Sands Films: 82 Saint Marychurch Street, London.
Brunel Museum: Railway Avenue, Rotherhithe SE16 4LF.
- Numbers: Limited to 25 persons only.
- Cost: £35 – Sands Films Studios (includes guided tour and lunch).
£6 – Brunel Museum (guided tour).
You are welcome to apply for either or both visits with preference being given to those attending both if oversubscribed.
- Travel: By far the easiest method is via Underground to Rotherhithe from where both locations are a 2 minute walk. Buses 381 and C10 also stop at Rotherhithe station. By car use SE16 4HZ for sat. nav., but note that metre parking is rare and limited to two hours in most locations.

Dear Member,

The first event of my year combines my love of films and travel (railways in this case) as we venture into docklands with a double visit. Sands Films, located in an early 19th century warehouse, is unique because it runs its own studio, prop and costume workshops, sets, cutting room, cinema and all the various services to make films. During our morning tour we will be guided through all the departments which go to make up a self-sufficient and fully integrated studio.

Lunch (3-courses served canteen style) will be taken in the library at the studios after which we will walk the few paces to the adjacent Brunel Museum where we will have a guided tour of the small museum, which comprises the engine house and grand entrance hall (the world's first underground theatre and where Brunel nearly drowned). The visit should end by 3.30pm.

I look forward to seeing as many members as possible on the day.

Best wishes,

Antony Richards
